THE LATE CHAMPION SKIFF RACE.
TO MESSRS. MORATH AND PUNCH.
GENTLEMEN.—Although defeated in the late contest, I cannot, in justice to myself or you, allow a moment to elapse without returning you my sincere thanks for the unrelenting kindness with which you supported me; more especially as we had been for so many years opposed in the aquatic arena. Circumstances over which I had but little control lost me many friends, but still I find some are left, and I beg thus publicly to return both you and them my sincere thanks for having stood by me in the hour of adversity; and I still hope that ere long I shall be enabled to retrieve my late defeat, and be again in the proud position of Champion of Australia.

R. A. W. GREEN.

TO THE ELECTORS OF KILMARNOCK.—GENTLEMEN.—I have considered it my duty to accept the office of Colonial Secretary in the Administration just formed, and of all responsibility on my part, under the provision of the Constitution, vests in me as your Representative in Parliament. I appeal to you for re-election, not without a strong belief that the step I have taken will meet with your approval, and that I shall be supported by your continued confidence.

man the poor animal was lying near his master's feet, who had been committed for trial at Trana, on a charge of having killed a woman by putting arsenic and other ingredients into a blood-sucking which she had had on her forehead for several years, and which he had been obliged to remove. The arsenic poison had been placed on the wound, Mrs. Roberts had been so badly affected by it that she died, in about a week after the Chinaman had drawn the blood, in about the same manner as the blood-sucking was used. The man was held as to the cause of death, when Dr. Robinson said he had no opinion that it resulted from poison, being an infamed wound.

MARKS.—The correspondent of the Western Examiner that the following description of the state of the country round Bourke may probably prevent some of the idle and untrue statements which are made as to Wellington the country is all burnt up, so that no grass (this was before the late rains, which may improve the state of the country) grows in the country, and thence to Warren, 170 miles from Bourke, there is nothing but old dry grass, there having been no rain at Dubbo. From Warren, for about eighty miles, there is no water for the cattle to drink, and there are three, a patch called the "Red-lands," I consider very injurious to the cattle, and then comes another bad patch, and then the country is all burnt up to within fifteen miles of Bourke, there is no grass, dry grass, but very little water, and that little at a great distance from one waterhole to another. The great fact teams cannot get on, and that is the last fifteen miles of the journey there is nothing for man or beast. Some other time I may write more fully on this during the next summer. I will re-think the above facts may serve to prevent some of the risks the loss of their teams, as it would be very easy to carry them on, for example, for a journey of twenty miles and back again, with produce, and at a high price it is, unless he be remarkably fond of dogs, and has money he does not know what to do with, that a short stage is not a very profitable one, it is impossible for any one to travel, for want of water, lately seen horsemen who inform me the waterholes should be made.

96th Government sales at auction, 23,000 piculs of rice. Of West India preparation the market is nearly closed. The price is $1.41 to $1.50 per picul, Indian preparation at $1.40 to $1.44 per picul.

Padang—The next auction takes place at Padang at the month, and in the meantime, there is none in the market.

The improvement noted in our last list continues, and is seen made at 116.25 for No. 16, but the quantity offered is very small. The weather for the young ones for the month is not so good as for the last month, but the rice though still high in price has declined considerably, and supplies brought forward. We quote coarse rice at $1.25 to $1.30 per picul, quality at $1.210 to $1.23, and at $2.00 to $2.10 per koyang.

Large sales continue to be made of Bandjermasing, at $1.40 per picul, and Padang at $1.10 to $1.15 per picul. The following have been sold at 11.35 per picul, and worth $1.16 per picul.

White. —None offering; worth $1.30 to $1 per picul.

Yellow. —None offering; worth $1.05 per picul.

Judging from these figures, we may safely say, however the non-settlement of the Melbourne tariff have nitric checked shipments, the effects on this considerable decrease, passing away so far as the export concerned, shippers evidently inclining to the opinion will still be required hence at much the same average before.

similar amount; but it has been reserved for the October-November, 1865, to record an aggregate export to £1,131,469, without including New Zealand totals, £200,000 more. This unprecedented amount is for almost entirely by the increase in shipments of goods to every port included in our tables. Thus, to Miscellaneous values of the first two pages devoted to goods, with apparel and wrought leather, amounts in round £320,000, about double the sum of the same columns October-November, 1864.

RAIN AND THE LATE CROPS.—A correspondent, well versed in agricultural matters, writes:—The have been very beneficial to the farmers. We hope of having any potatoes this year until the when the rain, which fell on Friday, quite re- and on Saturday morning on turning up a shade-

th, I found that the moisture had penetrated tubers. That will, of course, reach the potatoes, amongst the farmers whose crops of this kind are backward will be able to send to market the best one of the potatoes will take a second growth, where they are of any size. I am sorry to say is a very bad prospect for our corn supply... but some persons are putting in ninety-day near they will be too late. The ground that prepared for such crop might advantageously be sown with beans and peas, which in the absence of supply of other artificial food, would be useful for horse-fodder. Frost has no effect on wheat that it is destructive to maize. From all I hear there will be much hay this year; the farmers are becoming careful over the wheat straw, and upon in New South Wales. The greater part of will, this year, be threshed out by the flail, as it eral opinion that the machines destroy the straw, events, render it unmarketable. - Yass Courier,
